James Beard Foundation Introduces New Award Categories for 2012 James Beard Foundation Awards

“The Outstanding Bar Program Award acknowledges the growing importance of cocktails, spirits, and beer in many restaurants and bars. This new award will recognize establishments that set a high standard of excellence nationally,” said Providence Cicero, Seattle Times restaurant critic and Chair of the James Beard Foundation’s Restaurant and Chef Awards Committee. “Together with the Outstanding Wine Program Award, the new Outstanding Bar Program Award allows us to consider a broader range of talent in restaurants and bars.”

The Outstanding Bar Program category for the 2012 James Beard Foundation Restaurant & Chef Awards recognizes a restaurant or bar that demonstrates excellence in cocktail, spirits and/or beer service.

“The addition of the new Bar and Journalism categories to the 2012 James Beard Awards will shine a spotlight on previously unrecognized experts in the beverage and epicurean world and their positive impact on the way we eat, drink, cook, and think about the culinary arts in America,” said Susan Ungaro, President of the James Beard Foundation.

Dorothy Kalins, Director of Dorothy Kalins Ink and Chair of the James Beard Foundation Journalism Awards Committee noted: “Building on last year’s far-reaching changes that made every category platform neutral, we’ve added three new ways to reward journalistic excellence: in a food-focused publication, a general interest publication, and in a brand new category called Visual Storytelling.”

The newest 2012 James Beard Foundation Journalism Awards categories and definitions are:
Food Coverage in a General Interest Publication: Recognizes excellence in food writing, reporting, and packaging of regularly published food coverage in a non food-focused publication. Entries may be print, digital, or both and consist of three examples of the full coverage.

Food Coverage in a Food-Focused Publication: Recognizes excellence of an entire food-focused publication: writing, reporting, and packaging of food coverage in a website, magazine, newspaper or other medium. Entry must consist of three examples of the full coverage (a day, issue, week, etc.).

Visual Storytelling: Rewards excellence in photography, graphic design, and photojournalism.
