INTRODUCING THE JAMES BEARD FOUNDATION’S TASTE AMERICA® 2024-2025 TASTETWENTY CLASS

Launching July 2024, the Taste America national event series lineup will feature an exceptional new cohort of TasteTwenty chefs—an annual selection of the “ones to watch”—recognized for their culinary talent and impact they have on the industry.

NEW YORK, NY (May 16, 2024) - The James Beard Foundation® announces the 2024-2025 lineup of exciting TasteTwenty chefs, an annual selection of “ones to watch” in the industry—who will be highlighted over the course of the national Taste America series, presented by Capital One, held across 20 U.S. cities. Through the TasteTwenty, the Foundation is recognizing some of the industry’s finest talent and changemakers—known for demonstrating culinary excellence, as well as their impact uniquely leading the industry forward on and off the plate. Taste America events will launch in New York City on Wednesday, July 24, with all 2024-2025 TasteTwenty chefs in attendance, representing the James Beard Foundation’s mission of Good Food for Good® and showcasing their cooking through delicious bites.

"We're thrilled to announce the 2024-2025 lineup for the upcoming Taste America series, featuring another phenomenal group of TasteTwenty chefs," said Siobhan Flaherty Haber, Vice President of Events at the James Beard Foundation. "This year’s TasteTwenty cohort exemplifies culinary excellence, innovation, and a commitment to positive societal impact. Their remarkable talents and dedication to their craft and communities inspire us, and we're honored to showcase their remarkable work on a national stage."

Launching in July 2024 and running through March 2025, this year’s series expands to include 10 major walk-around tastings with food and beverage stations from a TasteTwenty host chef and local guest chefs, as well as 10 pop-dinners featuring a one-of-a-kind, multi-course menu with wine pairings and cocktails. Menus at all events promise a delectable evening benefiting the Foundation’s industry-focused mission and programs. Over the course of the series, Taste America will highlight over 100 leading chefs, celebrate the richness and diversity of local food culture, and offer participants a window into the tastes and traditions shaping American food today.

Each special event hosted by a TasteTwenty chef in their home city will celebrate the positive impact chefs have in their communities and industry at-large. From investing in their workers to supporting sustainable agriculture, showcasing quality ingredients or using their restaurant as a platform to advocate for meaningful change, and more—this year’s cohort of chefs are leaders helping to shape the future of the independent restaurant industry.
Presented by Capital One, Taste America celebrates the local independent restaurants at the heart of their communities, bringing together chefs and food lovers for unique and delicious culinary experiences while celebrating the Foundation’s mission of Good Food for Good®.
